

Newly Launched Business-In-A-Bucket Provides Teens a Quick, Fun and Educational Way to Make Money

KJE INC.'s newly launched Business-In-A-Bucket features everything necessary to start a self-run auto detailing business, including the "Owner's Guide to Auto Detailing," an instructional guide written by owner Kevin Jones. Jones started Business-In-A-Bucket to help youth gain a sense of responsibility and keep them off of the streets.

Stanton, CA (PRWEB) April ##, 2009 – KJE INC. has made it easy for teenagers or anyone looking to make money with the launch of Business-In-A-Bucket. The product enables individuals to build a personal stimulus package, as it contains all of the information necessary to begin an auto detailing business. Entrepreneur and owner Kevin Jones launched Business-In-A-Bucket to help those suffering from unemployment and to help young people find the money for college and be empowered to become CEOs of their own companies.

"As we embark upon the worst economy ever, it is imperative that we think fast and think outside the box. Let's face it -- we are drowning. There is a giant leak in America's economic boat. Do we wait for someone to patch the hole, or do we jump off and swim to shore?" Jones says. "If you stay in the boat and do nothing, it's a sure thing that you will drown. If you get out of the sinking boat and try to save yourself, your chances of surviving are greater. Business-In-A-Bucket is designed to help teenagers -- anyone - earn income and learn entrepreneurial skills necessary for business success."

After a home, a car is the most expensive investment that many people make. In addition to learning how to create jobs, users of Business-In-A-Bucket will learn how to preserve their own cars and save money.

Business-In-A-Bucket is just as it sounds -- a bucket loaded with everything necessary to start a business; more specifically, it contains everything needed to professionally detail a car. Included in the bucket is Jones' instructional guide book "The Owner's Guide to Auto Detailing," featuring all of the intricacies of auto detailing, including one little-known fact in bold print: "DO NOT USE DISH SOAP TO WASH YOUR CAR." The book offers 58 car maintenance tips in all, covering topics such as polishing compounds and the proper way to clean tinted windows, all of which are pertinent in the business of auto detailing.

Business-In-A-Bucket is a simple, cost-effective way to make money without the hassle and stress. For less than $50, users are provided various tips and tools that they can utilize to create any number of new businesses, such as an auto preservation consultancy, a mobile auto detailing business or selling do-it-yourself auto detailing kits.

"Business-In-A-Bucket allows you to start your own business right away. It's a great way to encourage youth in business. We must find ways to create our own stimulus packages, and doing so for yourself is a great start. With Business-In-A-Bucket, something so simple can lead to something so great," Jones says.

For more information on Business-In-A-Bucket, visit KJE INC.'s Web site at www.businessinabucket.net.

Contact:

Kevin L. Jones

President, KJE, INC.

Phone: (714)995-6434 Fax: (714)226-0963

###